Postmaster Meade, of Hazlehurst, Mississippi, Relieved from Further Service. Washington, May 28.—Postmaster General Vilas to day requested the resignation of J. L. But the explanation of the action of the postmrster-general is that since the appointment of Meade it has come to the knowledge of Vilas that Meade presided over a meeting which was held at Haziehurst just after the November elections in 1883, and subsequently to the killing of Matthews, the republican postmaster, by a man named Wheeler on election day at which weeting the person particular.

Upon these the appointment was made and the postmaster general says it was made without the knowledge of Meade's having participated in the proceedings of the meeting referred to above. When the facts of his participation in that meeting the facts of his participation in that meeting became known to the department, his resignation was requested. SARATOGA, May 28 -At the close of this morning's session of the Baptist mission society, Dr. F. M. Ellis, of Baltimore, lately of Boston, and Dr. McDonald, of Atlanta, were received as delegates from the southern Baptist convention. This afternoon addresses on the work among the colored people of the south were made by Dr. Mitchell, president of Roger Williams university at Nashville, Dr. W. J. Simmons, of Kentucky, and Rev. Mr. Gilbert, of South Carolina. In these addresses it was asserted that social ostracism of white teachers sent south to colored schools, was more talked of here than practiced there, that no color line appeared at the New Orleans exposition, that exhibits of negro inventors and artisans were contibility received and fairly shown, and that they constituted a creditable display.

The report on the Mexican mission was prepared by Samuel Colgate, of New Jersey, and read by Secretary Cooper. Counsel for both sides spent an hour in examining the correspondence referred to yesterday as passing between Lillian Madison, deceased, and Cary Madison, with a view to avoid the reading of the letters in open court. The result of the conference was a presentation of a paper agreed upon by counsel, to the following effect: "That it is admitted that Cary Madison was a suitor of Lillian Madison from Madison was a suitor of Lillian Madison from the spring of 1884 to the time of her death; that the parties never met later than the summer of 1883; that on September 12, 1884, she wrote him a letter, expressing her love for him as being stronger than for any one else and asking him to meet her in Richmond and take her to the fair in October, 1884, as she did not care to go with any other gentleman and signed herself "your true and loving Lillie," adding as a postscript a verse of love poetry; that up to the spring of 1884, her letters had only been of a cousinly nature; that Cary Madison asserts that there was no actual engagement between them; that in no letter since September 1884, did she express her since September 1884, did she express her love for him, but did in one letter chide him for not continuing to love her, and that this statement is gleaned from a correspondence of nine or ten letters from each. Mark Davis, proprietor Davis house, this city, testified that the prisoner had been a guest at his house on five occasions, the last two being in January and March. In January he stopped at the house on the nights of the 5th and 6th. In March the witness met the prisoner between 4 and 5 o'clock on the evening of the 13th. He did not see him again until midnight when he retirred, and paid his bill before retiring, as he said he was going home in the morning.

Charles Dodson, clerk of the American house, was sworn. He said that on March 13th, he saw the occupant of room 21 about one o'clock and gave her the key of her room. She asked something about the boy who had brought a note, but not knowing anything about the matter, he could not give her any information.

B. W. Nashon, night clerk at the Davis house, testified that the prisoner had stopped several times at the house. He was there on January 5th and 6th, and again on March 12th and 13th. The witness saw him at the hote at 8 o'clock p. m. on the 13th, and again about 12 o'clock, when he came in and after remain-12 o'clock, when he came in and after remaining in the office nearly half an hour went to his room. A few minutes afterward his bell rang and a boy answered it. The boy came back for a bottle of whisky for him, which was sent. The witness did not notice anything unusual about his appearance or manner. The defense here introduced a paper showing the measurement of the distances in the vicinity of the reservoir, else certain portions of the testiment taken also certain portions of the testimony taken before the coroner in contradiction of the evi-dence of some of the witnesses for the prosedence of some of the witnesses for the prose-cution.

John S. Dodsen, proprietor of the American hotel, testified that he saw the occupant of room 21 twice on the thirteenth of March, once when she went out in the morning and again about one o'clock, when she returned. He has known the prisoner by sight about two years, but did not known his name until effer his street. He was in the office on the after his arrest. He was in the office on the night of the thirteenth, when a person came up and handed a card to the clerk who sent it up stairs. He did not recognize this party as the prisoner. The court then adjourned.

WHO ARE MURDERING WHITES ON THE FRONTIER.

Squaws Said to be Assisting in the Bloody Work-Miners and Settlers Coming Into the Military Posts for Protection—General Crook Or-dering Ris Man to the Pursuit.

DENVER, Col., May 28 .- A special to the News from Silver City says a dispatch from Fort Bayard reports that the Indians are leaving their reservation daily. The number of Indians who have been killing whites during the last ten days is said by military authorities to be only 134-34 bucks, 8 half-grown boys and 92 squaws. Outside reports indicate that there are many more. The news from northwest says that several men have been killed in the Black mountain country. Outbreaks are expected from the Mescataro agency. Captain Smith, of the Fourth cavalry, who followed the Indians from the reservation, passed through Silver City yesterday on their way to Fort Bayard. In a fight at Devils Park one Indian was killed, one soldier and one Indian scout were wounded. Captain Smith routed the Indians and captured 200 rounds of ammunition and nine ponies. General Bradley, who is now at Fort Bayard, has ordered two troops of the Tenth cavalry after the Indians, who are reported to be on the upper Gila river. Later advices are to the effect that the Indians are breaking up into small parties and scattering through the country in this direction from Gila river. Forty-five armed men left here this evening to protect families now sur-rounded in Bear creek. A courier from Juniper spring, ten miles from here. states that thirty Indians, including squaws and children, are camped there. One ranch has been captured, and a man from a ranch near Negro creek, four miles from here, reports fighting there. One man and a child were killed and one man was wounded. Par-were killed and one man was wounded. Parties are organizing to go out. Arms are scarce. A courier from Captain Madden's command has arrived here with a request for supplies. He reports the finding of the bodies of two more murdered prospecters and a hot trail.

MUTILATING THEIR VICTIMS.

TUCSON, ARIZODA, MAY 28.—A special to the Star from Deming says: "The Indians have scattered in small bands in different parts of southern New Mexico, mostly in the vicinity of the Black mountains. More than thirty citizens are reported to have been killed. Many of their bodies were mangled beyond recognition. Last evening the Indians were reported in the vicinity of Cook's peak, fitteen miles northwest of Deming. The greatest excitement prevails in the settlements along the Gila river. No Indians have been killed or captured since the outbreak. General Crook is on his way here to relieve General Bradley. He is expected to arrive Saturday morning. Miners and ranchmen are coming in from all directions. Much dissatisfaction is expressed concerning the action of the troops.

GENERAL CROOK ON THE SITUAUION.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—General Crook has telegraphed from Arizona to the military department as follows:

"No more troops are needed at present. The troops from Bowie are stationed in Stein pass and those from Hauchuca at the mouth of the Guadalupe canon to intercept the hostile Indians if they should double back to go into Mexico by the usual trails. Major VanVilet, with 240 men of the Tenth cavalry, Captain Smith, with 100 of the Fourth cavalry, and Captain Pierce and Indians couts from San Carlos, are at Fort Bayard and east of the Indians; co-operating with troops in New Mexico. Lieutenant Davis, with sixty Indian scouts from Apalache, is still on the trail of the Indians and is pursuing them into the mountains. The difficulty of getting any definite information in regard to the Indians is due to the rapidity of their march. They have made about 130 miles in two days over an exceedingly rough country."

CAUSED BY WHISKY.

CAUSED BY WHISKY.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—From the correspondence transmitted by the war department to the Indian bureau it appears that the Apache Indian outbreak was caused by whisky. The Indians manufactured large quantities of "tiswin" and became intoxicated. Knowing that punishment would follow this infraction of the rules, they abandoned their reservation and went on the war path. GERONINO'S SQUAWS CAPTURED.

DENVER, May 28.—A special to the Tribune-Republican from Fort Stanton, New Mexico,

Two of Geronimo's squaws captured by the In-dian police have arrived here. One of them wore five gold rings, which had evidently been taken from victims of the present raid. The squaws tore their hair, wildly lamenting their fate.

A PATRIOTIC LUNATIC.

He Volunteers to Restore His Pension and His Offer is Accepted.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—A few days ago a New York pensioner named Snyder, created considerable surprise and some admiration by calling at the pension office and relinquishing a pension of one thousand dollars annually. Coupled with Snyder's story, it was related at the pension office that other patriots had similarly relieved the public treasury from their support when they had recovered from their support when they had recovered from their disabilities.

It now appears that Snyder is insane and irresponsible, and that his pension was granted on that account, and consequently will not be taken from him. He did not state the cause of his disibility when he made his generous offer, but his appearance and actions led a medical examiner to look up his record, and afterwards to subject him to examination, with the results stated.

siasm at a Montreal Banquent. MONTREAL, P. Q., May 28.—At the banquet of the National Club the toast of the evening was the "Independence of Canada," which was responded to by Mr. Beaugrand, mayor of Montreal. About one hundred and fifty of Montreal. About one hundred and fifty guests were present, among whom were a number of members of the previncial parliament. The toast to "the Queen" was drunk in silence, while that to Canadian independence was received with wild enthusiasm. Six mayors of cities in the province responded, the object being to give a denial to the assertion made by the opposition and English press that there were no men of prominence in Canada who favored independence. Imperial federation was denounced as impracticable, and if there was any further seceration it was said that it would inevitably be with the United States. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

THE DEFENCES OF HERAT. Only One Decent Gun in the City-Heavy

Cannons to be Mounted on her Forts.

London, May 28 —Colonel Patrick Stewart and the British engineer officers who accompanied him on his recent visit to Herat have reported the result of their inspection. They found that the fortifications are wholly indefensible with the present armament. The only decent gun that they found was one old 24pounder. The place, however, could be made impregnable; owing to its superb natural position by the erection of a series of new forts equipped with modern artillery. They strongly recommend the immediate construction of these works, but it is doubtful if the ameer will agree to the outlay. Abdurrahman has wonderful fate in the prowess of the Heratese and the strength of their old citadel. He has expressed the belief that the 6,000 men now comprising the garrison of Herat could eat up any force of Russians likely to attack it if they were provided with proper artillery, and a new battery of heavy guns is now being sent to complete the armament of the forts. Colonel Stewart believes that the garrison could make a stout resistance for a time, but that it would eventually be reduced by she heavy and long. distance siege guns which the Russians could put into position without difficulty owing to the tack of outlaying fortifications.

The following advices have been received from Sinjou, Stewart, Holdich and Pescocks, who publicly entered Herat on May 10th on the smeer's invitation. The governor received them at Durber, attended by several Afghan generals. The entire garrison paraded. Their reception from all classes was extremely gratifying. The priests were cordial and the troops friendly. The officers left Herat on the 11th. It is reported that 300 Cossacks

THE STATE FAIR.

WILL IT BE HELD IN MACON OR

Only Three Thousand Dollars Needed to Insure It-The Money Not Yet Raised, and the Peopla Not Moving in the Matter-Other News From Macon-Personal, Etc.

MACON. Ga., May 28 -[Special ]-Just-now the question that is agitating Macon people is, Shall the state fair be held here next fall, or not? As is ell known, Macon has the finest fair grounds and race track in the state, with all the buildings needed for agricultural and mechanical exhibihave invariably brought large crowds to the city, and these crowds have left with Macon merchants sums varying from fifty thou sand to a hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The agricultural society has usually required the city to pay two thousand or twenty five hundred dol lars towards defraying the expenses of holding the fairs, and the money has been easily raised until the present year. just why the amount required by the agricult nral society this year cannot be raised is difficult to determine. While the city is somewhat conservative, it cannot truthfully be said that it is unprogressive. The amount required, two thousand five hundred dollars, is not large, and there are two or three business men here who, if they would, could quickly and easily pay it all. Seventeen bundered dollars have been subscribed, but it seems impossible to secure the remainder. THE CONSTITUTION'S correspondent interviewed a number of business men to-day, and found them all anxious to have the fair held here, but entirel unable to say why the amount required by the agricultural society had not been raised. One gentleman said that he thought the indifference about the matter was due mainly to the fact that there is an impression abroad that the fair will be held whether the money is raised or not.

Colonel E. C. Greer, secretary of the agricultural society, was seen on Mulberry street, and asked to give his opinion on the subject.

'I cannot understand why the money has not been raised." he said, "Macon people certainly haven't lost all pride in their city, and yet it looks had that an enterprise as important as the stat fair should be allowed to slip into the possession of some other city."

"It is said, colonel," remarked the correspondent, "that the agricultural society will hold the fair whether the money is raised or not "

"That is a mistake," the colonel replied. "The state fair committee proposed to the mayor and council of Macon to hold the fair here next fall, provided the citizens would raise $2,500 for defray ing expenses. My understanding is that unless money is raised no fair will held. While I am correcting held. mistakes, let me correct another. It seems to be generally understood that if the citizens raise th twenty-five hundred dollars, the state fair will be permanently located in Macon, and no mor noney will be asked for. This is a great mistake The state fair committee proposed to the mayor and council to locate the fairs in Macon permanently, under certain conditions. In reply to the proposition, Mayor Price said that he and council could make no bargains that would bind their successors, and further consideration of the matter was not entered into". From this interview it may be understood the unless Macon raises the entire amount asked for. no fair will be held here next fall. The failur would be a serious loss to Macon, and might re sult in her losing the fairs altogether. A n of the agricultural society said to-day that if th fair was not held next fall there was no doubt be that the fairs would hereafter be held in Atlanta or in some city other than Macon.

It surely cannot be that the people of Macon will suffer the fair to go to another city, and it is earnestly hoped that the remainder of the twenty. e hundred dollars will be speedily subscribe

From the Early county, Ga., News. Mr. Burrel Roberts noticed, one day la week, in his rambles, a very large king snake that acted in a very peculiar manner. He decided to run the front wheel of his buggy across the snake's head and kill it. He was going at a pretty good rate, and the front wheel missed the serpent, but the rear wheel struck him near the middle, and he coiled himself around the spoke and was carried up and took the dector back of the neck, slid down in front of him and between his feet, finally scrambling out at the side of the vehicle. downy? It is very much like other persons' pllows, and the prickles are as likely to disturb his sumbers.

The other day Pension Commissioner Black found in his private mail a letter from a little girl who said her papa was a member of the board of examining surgeons in a western town and that he was a good papa, and she hoped ever so much that Mr. Black would please not discharge him. The little letter closed with this paragraph:

"My papa does not know that I am writing this letter. If he did he might not like it. So if you grant my request please make a big X on the back of this postal card. Nobody but me will know what it means, but I shall know that my papa will not be discharged."

The commissioner must be charged with a slight breach of confidence, for he answered the little one's letter not as she had so slyly arranged, but with a rather long note, in which he assured the child-petitioner that her request should be given as careful consideration as he would like to have have given to a letter from his own little girl written under similar circumstances. Still, this was not a very gross sin, since it was impossible for him to send the postal card with the positive X, nor yet could be griven by falling to answer at all. Moreover, we warrant that whatever momentous business came before the commissioner that day, nothing was weighed more carefully than his answer to this child; and when he lay down to rest that night we warrant there were prickles in his pillow and an invisible little hand clutching at his papa heart and perplexing him more than all the weighty matters that were trying to command his thoughts.

THE CONYERS INCENDIARY DIS-

Tide of Indignation Stirs Up the People of Conyer Other News From Over the State-Items Seperal Interest Told on the Telegraph By Our Correspondents-Etc.

CONYERS, Ga., May 28 .- [Special.] -Such a flerce tide of indignation, rising higher and higher in tide of indignation, rising higher and higher in dark and angry waves, has never before settled over this city and community. It leaked out yesterday evening that the fire field, Tom Mars-ton, who burned the Methodist occurch in this place last September, and who, at the same time, tried to have the town, had been travel, out by tried to burn the town, had been turned out by Dr. Powell from the lunatic asylum more than a week ago. Some in this town knew it and kept it still as death. The authorities of the asylum, in disregard of the reasonable request of our people, that if Marston ever should make his escape they would telegraph at once, have kept our people in ignorance of the fact.

It will be remembered that Marston was tried at our last fall court on an indictment for arson, and that the jury returned a verdict of insanity for the prisoner. The judgment of the court was that Marston be taken to the lunatic asylum, and there held under the laws of the state in such cases provided. The main statute referred to is that Marston should emain in the asylum until released by a special act of the general astembly. It was nothing but the assurrance given the people, by the court and lawyers, when the verdict was rendered, that Marston would be kept in perpetual security, that prevented our people from adopting measures of their own. Where Marston is, is not known. It is reported that he is in Augusta, or at Sand Hills near there, with his sister. He may be in Conyers.

AFFAIRS IN DAWSON.

The Coming Trial of George W. Uheves

Next Week. DAWSON, Ga., May 28. - [Special.]-The May term of the superior court commenced here last Monday, his honor Judge John T. Clarke presiding. This court, in its civil and criminal cases, will be a busy one. Among the visiting attorneys we notice Messrs. B. B. Hinton, Edgar and Walter Simmons, Guerry and Dodson, of Americus; Warwick and Watson, of Smithville; Gresham, of Macon: Judges Watson and Vason, of Albany and L. G. Cartledge, of Morgan. The trial of Professor George W. Cheves is set down for next Monday The grand jury is one among the strongest, as it is composed of representative men who have made, as citizens, an impress for good in the past in this community. One of the marked men of this court is the venerable Judge J. C. F. Clerk, who for years past has done his whole duty as clerk, and whose life has been a "duty." We are all hopeful and cheerful now, as the outlook for farming operations in this section is simply splendid. As a people, we are gratified with the recent an pointment of the governor of our distinguished townsman, Hop. James G. Parks, as a member of the board of visiters to attend the examination of the senior class at the University of Georgia on the 3d day of Inne next and also the examination of the stn. dents at the Atlanta university on the 15th day of June next.

Dawson is growing rapidly, and we hear of the contemplated erection of more brick stores. When the new hotel is finished we predict that a line stores will extend the length of Depot street to the

MENTION FROM ROME.

Rumors of a Request for Postmaster Barnett's Resignation. ROME, Ga., May 28 .- [Special ]-A freight train on the East Tennessee road jumped the track in East Rome last night, injuring the engineer considerably. No one else was hurt. It was rumored this afternoon that Postmaster Burnett had been requested to resign, This was denied, however, by Major Burnett, who stated that no official intimation on the subject had reached him. There are a large number of appli cants for the position, and the fight is becoming exceedingly warm. This section has been visited by heavy rains for the past ten days. Today there was a heavy rainfall, and it is feared that crops will be injured.

A Case Against a Merchant, Elberton, May 28.-[Special,]-A prosecution was begun against a merchant in this county vesterday for selling kerosene oil without its being stamped by an inspector. Bad, But Not Hopeless.

When you have pain in your head, lameness in your side, distress in your back, shortness of breath, and frequent spalls of coughing, it seems pretty bad, does it not? Many physicians would give up such a case as beyond restoration. But Mrs. Nettic Hastings, of Cambridgeport, Massa, who was thus afflicted, took Brown's Iron Bitters and gratafully writes that the Price of Tonics completely reshored her to health. It will restore you, too.

HALF-A-DOLLAR ISLAND. The Story of How Uncle Sandy Hughes Made an Island.

From the Elberton, Ga, Leader. From the Elberton, Ga., Leader.

Many years ago by an unsuccessful attempt to divert the water in a large bend of Coody's creek into a straight channel, an isolated piece of land was found which goes by the name of the Half a-Dollar island. Its name originated from this circumstance:

Old "Uncle Sandy" Hughes once had it planted in cotton and having been to look at it one day told his wife it was so good that it was worth a half dollar just to see it. On this piece of land there is a raised spot about half an area in area, which is supposed to be an Indian scre in area which is supposed to be an Indian mound. Some years ago a born had this spot planted in corn. It proved well adapted; the corn thrived and bid fair to turn out a handsome harvest. As soon as the corn thrived, however, the boor took to beating, and the more it thrived the more he boasted, till at length his neighbors became heartily wearied and disgusted with his song and set to devising and disgusted with his song and set to devising schemes by which they might silence him.

schemes by which they might silence him.

The result was a report soon sprang up that an old Indian chief had been seen to come up out of the mound and utter angry imprecations on the head of the one who was desecrating that sacred ground. To this rumor was added wild copjectures such as that spells would be practiced on the boor; he would be caught and beaten by witches, his corn or himself be spirited away, or some such sad fate would befall him. These rumors and conjectures being every day exaggerated, filled his mind with dread and appresension so great that he grew dread and apprehension so great that he grew afraid to go near the mound. Having ar-ranged everything in readlness for their scheme, however, our friends, some of his neighbors, one evening by taunts of cowardice, succeeded in getting the boor to go and look after his corn. As he stepped on the island he seemed as if on enchanted ground. He looked about him wildly and proceeded slowly toward the mound, trembling in every limb as if in the mound, trembling in every limb as if in reality going to meet some supernatural being. How did it affect him, then, when in the midst of his corn suddenly from out of the ground arose a painted old Indian chief before him and confronted him with these words: "How dare you pale face thus to desecrate this sacred ground with your accursed corn." The boor vouchsafed ne reply, nor waited to hear more, but turning on his heel fled as fast as his feet would carry him.

After this it was all our friends could do to prevail with him again to visit the mound: it prevail with him again to visit the mound: it was only with the promise to go along with him and stand by him to the last in any misfortune. When they reached there they found the corn all vsnished; no sign remained but a pile of shucks and stalks over the hole out of which the old chief had arisen. Thus had his corn been actually spirited away, as had been conjectured. The boor was now completely crestfallen; but, a few days after, when these same friends, sympathizing in his misfortune, made him up a sufficient pursse to replace the corn spirited away, and assured him that the ire of the spirits was now appeased, he became again lighthearted, but was cautioned never to resume the practice of boasting.

Harris Takes Hope From Troup.

From the Hamilton, Ga., Journal. The temperance victory in Troup has im-bued the temperance advocates of Harris with hope. The good cause will surely win. It will be a great day when it does. With the money now spent by our people devoted to the cause of education, we would become the most intelligent people in the world. The citizens of the United States spend annually ten dollars per head for intoxicants. If Harris spends only half the average, she guzzles $85,000 a year. The amount is enormous, and yet there are so many drinkers that any approximate figures would be appalling and occasion doubts of their correctness. The traffic has been restricted in this county for years, and yet the sale reaches wast propor-tions. Let us have an end of it for economic, if for no other reasons.

From the Boston Globe.

In the course of the national commercial convention just held at Atlanta the questions of reciprocity treatics and a national bankrupt law leveloped unexpected interest. The genera opinion seemed to be that whether or not reciprocity afforded the best means of securing foreign markets for our goods, reciprocity or something else should be adopted which would secure such markets, and that quickly. Mr. W. T. Sutherlin, of Virginia, appears to have expressed the prevailing sentiment of the convention in the following remarks:

"Ten years ago iron rails were worth $66; to-day, only $16. The foreign demand for our agticultural products has been forestailed by high protective tarifis, and all branches of manufacturing are stagnant for the reason of the over supply of manufactured goods on hand. What have we to expect in the way of relief? Let us not cry "Over-production!" Let us have honest, intelligent foreign representatives, who shall make such treaties as shall comprehend a mutual interchange of our productions. The trouble is we have no commercial fleet. Only 7 per cent of our spricultural and manufactured products are exported. This is because we have no ships. Shall we stop our labors, that over-production may be remealed by our consuming our surplus in idleness? Give us governmental assistance in building a commercial marine, until American yessels shall be able to transport our productions to the markets of the world and bring back exchange commerce."

markets of the world and bring back exchange commerce."

Several of the speakers inclined to the opinion that proper reciprocity treaties with the Mexican and South American republics would fargust sufficient avenues for the disposal of all our surplus products without any such arrangements with European countries. It is noticeable, however, that they cared little where the goods went, so long as they could be disposed of at a fair profit.

On the question of a national bankrupt law the vote of the convention was very significant. It has been charged that the business men of the west and south were opposed to such a law. The vote of the delegates indicated exactly the contrary. The question "Does the public interest require the enactment of a uniform bankrupt law?" was discussed in all its bearings, and was decided in the affirmative by a vote of 283 to 153. Eastern business men may well infer from this straw that the much wished for law will be passed at no very distant day Sentiment in its favor seems to be constantly increasing.

A New Yorker, on a hunting expedition in the far west, rode up to a mountain cabin and hailed a woman hanging out clothes in the front yard. "Good morning, madam," he called on her. "What yer lookin' fur? You must be lost, er sumpin'," she repiled.

"Thanks, no; Pm a hunting, and I understood there were bear up in this neighborhood, and could you give me some points?"

The woman dropped the white garment in her hand, and came down to the fence. "Hit's b'ar yer lookin' fer, is it?" she inquired, craning her thin neck forward in an eager way.

"Exactly, madam," he answered, straightening up in his stirrups.

Thus equipped the country seat of Pike presented an inviting welcome to the many weary travellers as they sojourned from east to west and back sgain, in search of new homes beyond the Chattahoochee river. Two hotels were constantly open for the public, which added much to the inducing of strangers to tarry with us for the night who were always treated with becoming nospitality, equal perhaps to any of that day. The mercantile and other businesses of the town was not very heavy, but conducted and sustained by a substantial trade, sufficient to keep several houses in successful operation. The citizens were mainly of the highest grade of society. Such as the Neals, Daniels, Mangkams, Wells, Mitchells, Martins, Bloodworths, Johnsons, Reeves, Caldwells, Westmorelands, the Greens, and others equally worthy of mention. Some of these are yet prominent in the state, while the descendants of the most of them are noted for their sobriety, enterprise and well to do in life. These people, while not so zealously pious as some other communities, supported two churches and one flourishing mixed school, and were notorious for their urbanity and kindness. That was Zebulon forty years ago when we cast our lot with this good people. Twenty years passed rapidly by without much change or casualty, except now and their death would deprive her of one of her jewels, bringing grief and mourning to the spassed at a distance of nine miles, the nearest point to our town, and to travel on time in going to and returning from Barnesville in order to prevent contact with the engine. Thus we lived and were content, having no lorebodings of trouble, until the sun began to set on our prosperity and happlness, leaving us to grope our way in the dark under the deadful realities of civil war, never to rise and shine on that people

Dr. W. H. Felton, in the last issue of the Car tersville Courant, makes some timely remarks enent the action of the commercial convention held in this city. He says:

held in this city. He says:

We have never been greatly impressed with the disinterested wisdom, or the disinterested pariot ism of commercial conventions. They have wisdom, but it is the "wisdom of the serpent" separate from the "innocence of the dove." They have assembled together for the purpose of considering their own interest. They push that interest, though the means adopted may conflict with the interest of every other avocation in the world. They are supremely selfish. But there is one comfort, they only talk. It is all wind work. They have no power to legislate, and happliy for the country they have but little influence as a "lobby" upon state or federal legislation. The writer remembers that when congress repealed that most unjust and wicked measure, the bank rupt law of 1867, there were presented to the house of representatives reports of "boards of trade" and "commercial" conventions" protesting against its repeal and praying for its continuance. The writer also remembers that when congress remonetized silver and its late that when congress remonetized silver and its late of the following the property of the property and the property of the property o "commercial conventions" protesting against its repeal and praying for its repeal and praying for its continuance. The writer also remembers that when congress remonetized silver and made it alegal tender for all debts, public and private, nearly every "board of trade," and every convention calling itself commercial, were there by their written reports and their special agents protesting against the coinage of silver and demonstrating to their own satisfaction that such a measure would ruin the country; would drive all the gold to Europe, would reduce our bonds to fifty cents in the dolar, would impoverish the labor of the country, would destroy and wreck all our industries, and especially would prevent the resumption of specie payments. But the representatives of the people went on with their duty to the people. They repealed the bankrupt law and they remonetized silver and to-day there is not a disinterested partict on the continent who regrets either act. Commercial conventions indeed! But it is all talk, all wind, all gas. We once heard a sarcastic man describing one of these conventions which was protesting against the repeal of the bankrupt law of 1867. He said it was a "body of men in which bankrupts, or those expecting so to be, predominated." If he had said that particular convention he was descriping was composed largely of men who were hedging against the payment of their honest debts, we should have agreed with him. There are houset, insolvent debtors. There are houest men who have been discharged from the payment of their debts by courts of bankruptcy. There are houndreds of men who would, if they had the means, pay every dollar they owe. with him. There are housest, insolvent debtors. There are houest men who have been discharged from the payment of their debts by courts of bank-ruptcy. There are hundreds of men who would, if they had the means, pay every doilar they we. Misfortunes in many shapes, sickness, failure in crops, loss by fire, security debts, brozen banks, and assets made worthless by many unlorseen contingencies, have made them unable to pay debts housestly and necessarily contracted. Our sympathies are with them. We believe our state laws should intervene for the protection of that class of debtors. The wife and child should be saved from want. They should not be thrown out shelterless beggars. The spirit and purpose of cur state bankrupt laws are worthy of support. The object is good and should be forever preserved in some form of exemption from levy and sale among our laws. The state only should have power to relieve one of its chizens from the payment of his debts. This reniel should alike be extended to all its citizens in liarly situated. Let us have no class favoritism. But here comes a class of traders and speculators, huge sharpers, who look with contempt upon the farmer or mechanic, who has become involved for only a few hundred dollars and who curl their nose at a Georgia merchant who has failed to make oblections and consequently has failed to make oblections and consequently has failed to make oblections and consequently has failed to meet the little sums he owes. These immense speculators, the wholesale New York princes, thee wholesale New York princes, the wholesale New York princes, the wholesale New York princes are departed and borrowed indiscriminately that they might make millions, they say to these honest but unfortunate farmers, mechanics and Georgia merchants, "atte exemption laws and home stead laws are sufficient for you. You must be satisfied with sixteen hundred dollars (if you have it) for your wite and children, safely beyond the reach of creditors who have been made beggars by our rise in the world," from all debts. He is now rich, and I am poor."

We remembered that Mr. — was living at that time with elegant surroundings. His style and equipage were most lashionable. But that caltured old gentleman's money and lands were invested in these surroundings, all now beyond his reach and beyond the reach of state laws. We are sorry that a convention ever assembleft in Georgia, which by a vote of 254 to 162 indorsed and recommended such a monstrous outrage upon the honesty of the country. Where were our worthy state officials?
Where were our senstors? Where were our congressmen? The people will mak why they did not protest? Georgia, however, had one man who learlessly represented the honesty of Georgia and the whole union. That man was Dr. h. v. M.
Miller. For many years we have believed Dr.
Miller's intellect, the orightest and best equipped intellect in the southern states. To his friends he never appeared more brilliant and logical than when, as the invited mouthpiece of the honest merchants of Atlanta, he scattered the ilinsy sophistries of these special pleaders for n bankrupey law. A great intellect, richly stored with learning, to keed with honesty, and independent enough to speak the truth, is a treasure to any state. Such is Dr. Miller. We hope the like of this convention will never again assemblen to Gorgia. Let it meet in Wall street, New Yors, where this convention will never again assemble in Geor-gia. Let it meet in Wall street, New York, where it belongs.

A GEORGIA SCENE. Rev. Sam Jones Tells a Remarkable Cow Story to the Nashville People.

From the Nashville Union. The service at the gospel tent yesterday morning was too early, six o'clock, for the reporters, but there was a point made by the evangelist which ought to go on record, and therefore we notice it editorially.

which ought to go on record, and therefore we notice it editorially.

The pracher was devoting a few minutes to the subject of prayer, especially appealing to the church members to do a day's work of good deeds that they might be biessed at the night aervice and might be able to bring others in. His text was, "Trust in God and do good." The sermon was only about ten minutes long, and was mainly built on a Georgia cow story. He said there was a Methodist preacher in Georgia who came in home after making the round of the circuit, and as usual when he got frome asked his wife at once how all the tamily were. She said they were all well but the tow; that the cow had been sick for some days, and she rad done all she could for her, but she ked ro better. The husband preacher said to his wife, "Have you prayed for the cow?" "Well, no," she said. She had not; she had neglected that and would try it. "But," said the husband. "If you pray, have you got anything to stand on?" are "said the wife;" "while the cow was well and giving milk, I sent every morning a quart of the nik to our poor neighbor's sick child." "Then," said the husband, "that will do to stand on, and you can pray." And she prayed, and the Ct. w for well right off.

"Now." said the evangelist, "we have only five days to work to convert all these sinners, and it must be done by prayer—but we must have something to stand on is to spend tais day in good works, good deeds. Christians ought to trust food as if they did no work and workas if they did not trust food. Sai to work to come not pray and sou phe sick and administer to them, find hunsary children and leed them, buy a dress for some poor helpless woman and send it to her. Work all day and then come here to stand on."

rom all debts. He is now rich, and I am poor."
We remembered that Mr. — was living at that me with elegant surroundings. His style and surpage were most fashionable. But that cultured old gentleman's money and lands sere invested in these surroundings, it now beyond his reach and beyond it these surroundings, it now beyond his reach and beyond he reach of state laws. We are sorry that a concention ever assembled in Georgia, which by a ote of 253 to 162 indorsed and recommended such monstrous outrage upon the homesty of the suntry. Where were our worthy state officials? bere were our soators? Where were our concessmen? The people will ask why they did not obtest? Georgia, however, had one maa who exhestly represented the honesty of Georgia and e whole union. That man was Dr. H. V. M. Iller. For many years we have believed Dr. Iller's intellect, the orightest and best equipped tellect in the southern states, To his friends he wer appeared more brilliaut and logical than ien, as the invited mouthpiece of the honest sucheus of Atlanta, he scattered the illimay binistries of these special pleaders for a bank-ney law. A great intellect, richly stored with rulng, backed with honesty, and independent rules to speak the truth, is a treasure to any te. Such is Dr. Miller. We hope the like of econvention will never again assemble in Georgians.

ASKETCH OF THE CELEBRATED

A Northern View About the Georgia Evangelist-Points From His Last Sermon-Address to a Vast Congregation of Women-The Dancing Master-Other Doc.

The northern and western dailies are devoting columns to personal description and gossip about Rev. Sam Jones. They also quote freely from his

The Georgia evangelist, as he is called, is more written and talked about, just now, than any man

From a gossipy article of a column and a half in from a gossipy article of a column and a half in the Philadelphia News we extract the following:

I have seen many "evangelists," but Sam Jones, the new southern preacher, who is making a tremer-dous sensation in Tennessee, seems to me to be the most honest, sincere and original of tnem all. He is a slight, sallow little fellow with a yellow face, through which a clean shaven blue black beard shines. He has a short, crisp, black mutache, a pleasant smile, walch thourard. He cares nothing for man or devil, but his revalues for God and relation amounts to enthusiasm, which he expresses in brilliant and biting epigram, ready and quaint wit, in a fluent yet forcible, though sometimes charse style, which impresses everyone, both educated and ignorant.

Don't think he is a Talmage or marely a semention at preacher. He is real and true, and if he should ever come north he will make a bigger and more genuine impression than any of our revivalists, for he does not pretend to be on intimate powonal relations with the Deity, nor does he often salvation to every one who listens to him, but he makes people think of what they ought to do for themselves to be saved. "Pull up your doubts by the roots and you'll find a seed at the bottom, and that seed is sin," he says. In a hit at Ingersoil he says: "Opinions run the world. That old colonel—the old cuss—will say, 'it's my opinion, so and so.' A dozen young men who hear him will go off and say, 'it's my opinion, so and so.' They get their opinions from the old colonel, and he gets his from hell. I say to them, 'Shut up, you blab mouthed fools.'" If he ever comes in contact with Ingersoil he will make that oleaginous Pharisee's fur fly. He has made many notable converts. The best known at the north is General W. H. Jacken, owner of Belle Meade farm, the finest such best stock farm in the south, and a brother of United States Senator Jackson, of Tennessee. General Jackson is and always has been a gentleman who has been a model husband, father and citizen, and he public profession of fath has created a great sensation in Nastoville. You will har more and better things of Sam Jones by and by.

Pastry Without Butter. The American pie has been subjected to more unjust abuse from foreign writers than any other of our distinctive products, if we except the recent tirade against the American except the recent tirade against the American hog. And yet we cannot say that it has been altogether undeserved, because of the villianous compound, thick, hard and heavy, that is too often made to do duty as a "crust," and which by courtesy is called "pastry." Light, tender, flaky, and digestible pie-crust and all kinds of pastry can be made most readily by the use of Royal Baking Powder without any butter, or with half the usual portion, if preferred, or with a small quantity of lard or other shortening as desired. Pie-crust thus made is much more wholesome and digestible, besides being more economical and easier prepared. being more economical and easier prepared. In addition to saving all the butter if desired, one-third the flour is also dispensed with, as the crust is rolled that much thinner, the the crust is rolled that much thinner, the dereweiling it to the requisite thickness. If drippings or lard be used the Royal Baking Powder removes any unpleasant taste, rendering the crust as short, sweet and pleasant as if made from the finest butter. Those who know the appetizing qualities of the genuine home-made American pie will rejoice that by the aid of Royal Baking Powder in the pastry it can be made quite as digestible as it is delicious.

MACON AND THE STATE FAIR

Several months ago the management of the State fair association agreed to hold the next fair in the city of Macon, provided the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars was raised by that city towards defraying its expenses. This seemed a very liberal proposition, and the question as to the location of the city in which to hold the fair was regarded as settled. No one for an instant supposed that the amount asked for would not be forth. coming, and that the merchants and business men of Macon would not gladly lend their energies towards the successful consummation of an enterprise which must necessarily erect benefit to the city in which operated. The holding of a state fair under the auspices of the agricultural society, in any city in the state, guarantees an immense attendance from all parts of the state, and the city which obtains it has reason to congratulate itself, not only on account of the prominence thus given it, but more particularly on account of the pecuniary benefit which invariably results.

When the state fair was formerly held in Atlanta, it was the occasion for a general gathering of the smaller merchants of the towns tributary to Atlanta to lay in their fall stock of goods. The city assumed its gayest holiday attire, and the occasion was annually anticipated with an interest which augued pleasure and promised profit. All this was due to the fact that our merchants took hold of it as the importance of the occasion behooved.

There is no reason why it should not be so now in Macon. But it seems as if the undertaking must be a failure on account of the failure of its citizens to raise the required amount of money. Only about eight bundred dollars is needed, and though the matter has been pending for weeks, it seems as if it will go through by default. This is not as it should be, nor is it in keeping with the spirit of our sister city. Macon has spoken for the fair, and she should have it. Her business men should respond, and in ten minutes settle the question. Let them call a public meeting and take the matter in hand, and our word for it, it will not be long before the necessary amount is se-

However, if Macon does not want it let her so say; and Atlanta will gladly take it, and in a short while supply the amount needed. But Macon has spoken for it, and we want Macon to succeed in the undertaking. Let her citizens take the matter in hand.

CORRECTING SOME LIES. In one way and another, we are hearing a good deal of Henry Clews lately. Fortunately, having heard a good deal about him several years ago, the public is prepared to discount and discredit anything that he may say. Clews is gifted with all the emotions of enterprise that may be supposed to characterize a vendor of soap or tooth-powders. He knows how to advertise himself, and he has a knack of imposing on the credulity of those whose business it is to furnish the papers with what is courteously called "news." What he lacks in honesty he makes up in a certain perfunctory glibness-an accomplishment that is common to banko steerers and Wall street speculators.

In addition to his gifts in this direction Clews is a man with a grievance, and, like other cranke, he loses no opportunity to make himself conspicuous. Just now Clews seems to have the press agents by their ears, and into these receptacles he has poured his tale of woe. The following telegram, of which Claws is the author, appeared in our news columns yesterday: NEW YORK, May 27 .- The state of Georgia, som few years ago, repudiated eight million of its bonds. Just recently Georgia issued 8,500,000 of onds known as "new fives." T. Wolffe & Co. wish to place the bonds in New York, but the ers of the repudiated bonds object. They think Georgia should redeem the repudiated bonds before being permitted to place any new onds on the New York market. Several years ago the bank superfutendent issued an order for-hidding savings banks from buying state or rail-road bonds. The officials of Georgia, represented onds. The officials of Georgia, represented traition has so far acted wisely d. This afternoon Deputy Attorney-Gen this subject. But this does n eral Wm. A Post had a meeting with some of the holders of the repudiated bonds and representatives of the new bonds. Woifie & Co., who are seeking to place and bonds in New York, were represented. Henry Clews stated that his firm had never been financial agents for the state of Georgia in New York. The Fourth National bank acted in that capacity-and does at the present time. While Governor Bullock was in office Clews & Co. acted as bankers and brokers for the state of Georgia and negotiated its bonds. Pending the sale of the bonds the firm loaned large sums of money to the state, holding the bonds as collateral. When the state repudiated its bonds they were left in the lurch with many others. Ex-Governo Bullock corroborated Clew's statement as regarded the Fourth National bank being the financia agent of the state, and the negotiations of the repudiated bonds of Clew's & Co. On the 20th o June the Georgians will state their side of, the ase. By procuring the repeal of Superintendent Hepburn's order, Georgia expects to be able t lace their bonds with the savings banks.

Now, the forgoing telegram is made up of anything but the truth. In the first place, the state of Georgia is not moving to have the bank superintendent of the state of New York repeal his order forbidding savings banks from buying state or railroad bonds. It is not true that the officials of Georgia are represented by a committee in this matter. The state of Georgia and its officials have nothing to do with it and no interest in it. The state has negotiated these bonds, and it is not interested in any 'deposition that may be made of them by the purchasers. It is not true that Clews has ever acted a the state's broker. When did a state ever have a broker? Clews may have acted as the broker of certain republican officials who claimed to represent the state. The truth is e was a thief then and has been trying to ply his avocation with measurable success ever since. He had thieves for his silent partners in the matter of the bogus bonds of Georgie, but neither he nor his partners have ever been able to swindle the people o this state, nor have they ever been able to cripple the state's credit, though they have made the most strenuous efforts to do so. The truth of the matter is that the so-called ecurities which were placed in Clews's hands for negotiation by certain republican officials in Georgia, were part of an extensive scheme of robbery. The scheme was spoiled by the activity of the state treasurer, who was himself a republican, but an honest one, who put the public on notice that the bonds held by Clews were bogus. Clews himself had notice of it. He knew that the bonds had been illegally issued, and that the state would never pay them, but he persisted in his efforts to sell them, and did, we believe, succeed in swindling some thick headed Ger

Finally, it is not true that Georgia desires o place her bonds with the New York savings banks. The purchasers of the bonds may be moving to secure the repeal of Superintendent Hepburn's order, but the state has nothing to do with it. We may say, however, that the Georgia bonds are as good as government bonds and, perhaps, a little more desirable as an investment.

We may add here that whenever the time comes that such a person as Henry Clews has it in his power to injure the credit of Georgis, or to prevent the sale of her bonds, we propose to dig THE CONSTITUTION Up by the roots and join the rest of the people in getting out of the state as promptly as possible.

The trouble in the democratic party which the Blaine organs are trying to conjure up, seems to be a great deal further off than it has ever been-a fact that is in the nature of a tribute to the acquirements of the organs in the art of falsification. As matters stand, every democrat-and, for that matter, every honest independent republican-whose good opinion is worth anything, and whose influence is of the slightest importance, has indorsed the administration of President Clave land. This indorsement, as a matter of fact, comes from the very men whose influence will be worth anything in shaping legislation, and it is worthy of remark that the good opinion of these men has been won by the manliness and sincerity of the president in dealing with matters of public interest. Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, who is a much abler man than the little clique of conteationists that cling to his coat-tails, indorses Mr. Cleveland most heartily. "The president," he says, "is a sensible, honest and patriotic man, whose highest ambition is to discharge his official duties in strict accordance with the constitution and the laws, and for the promotion of the public welfare. He is careful and conscientions about everything he undertakes, and if he commits any mistakes in making appointments or otherwise. they will, in my opinion, be due to the fact that he is not able in every instance to procure correct information concerning the matters upon which he is compelled to act. He works hard, listens patiently to the statements and the suggestions of others, and then he decides according to bis own judgment as to what is right and proper under all the circumstances. The amount of work he performs is remarkable. He is in his office from early in the morning until late in the afternoon; and nearly every evening he is engaged for several hours with some member of the cabinet, examining papers and discussing questions connected with the business of the departments. I mention this merely to show the injustice of the complaints which have been made in some quarters on the ground that the administration is moving too slowly. It is physically impossi ble for the president and his cabinet to do more than they are doing. It must be remembered, too, that during the last quarter of a century the patronage of the government has been enormously increased, and its operations has been so extended as to bring under its control a great number of very important subjects, with which it previously had no connection. The growth of the postal service alone has created a neces sity for the appointment of many thousands of officers and employes, and the same may be said of the pension bureau, though the increase has not been so great. Then the internal revenue and national banking systems have been established during the period mentioned, and the whole volume of paper currency in the country has been brought under the general supervision and control of the government. People who think that the entire body of officers and employes who have charge of these vast interests, and who are familiar with them, can be saddenly changed without detriment to the public service, are, in my opinion, very much mis-

the party which has received the indorsement of the peop'e shall not contro! the government. It raeans simply, as I understand it, that basty and inconsiderate action will be avoided as far as possible, and that due care and aution will be exercised in determining the times and the places in which chang's can be properly made.' Mr. Carlisle gives expression to the opinion of the entire democratic party of the Country. When congress meets, the organs will be somewhat astonished at the solidity of the democratic party in that body. Heretofore the democrats have been solid only in the south. Hereafter they will be solid in all parts of the country.

THE SOONER THE BETTER. We take it for granted there is not a business man in Atlanta who does not intend, at some time or other, to contribute to the fund for the Young Men's Christian association uilding.

Evidences come every day of the truth of is. Quiet business men who have been to none of the meetings and who have not been approached on the subject, come up with their subscriptions and express the heartiest sympathy with the enterprise. It appears to us that every man who has son-every man who has any interest in the welfare of Atlanta-every man who is the friend of law and order-must see in this movement something to commend. Even i he be not religious or moral, he must understand that the practical and temporal bene fits of the proposed building and its admin istration must justify a small investment.

We believe that when the final and com letelist is printed it will be found to hold he names of the business men of Atlanta, almost without exception. The only thing we have to say this morning is that delay in subscribing, delays the beginning of the work and postpones the day when Atlanta can celebrate the opening of the best Young Men's Christian association building in the

THE JUDGE AND THE JOURNALISTS Judge Douglass has seriously crippled Memphis journalism by his summary disposi tion of a couple of editors. It will be recolcted that some days ago Mr. Walker I Kennedy distinguished thimself by spitting in the face of Mr. G. P. M. Turner, and that Turner then drew a pistol. All this occurred right under the nose of the honorable court, and was not only a flragrant insult to the Goddess of Justice, but was in direct violation of "the statute in such cases made and provided." The judge rose to the dignity of the occasion by fining Mr. Turner fifty dollars and sending Mr. Kennedy to jail for ten days. In the course of his opinion delivered in the Turner case, Judge Douglass alluded to the gravity of the offense of carrying arms in the presence of the court, and said: The offense is in being armed in the present of the court, and this will be so though the arm be used in self-defense. Roman senators with one accord refused to vote tribute demanded by the rictorious Gaul while arrayed in arms in the sen ate chamber. The sturdy Briton in the English parliament, though largely made of the partisans of Cromwell, refused to act upon a measure so ong as his soldiery remained in the chambe And an English court of barons defiantly resented the indignity offered them by King John by in-truding his halberders into their hall and refused to act until their chamber was cleared. The French convention of deputies, upon being broken in upon by an armed mob seeking to Bonaparte as their president, and refused to deberate until the expulsion of the armed mob that sought to overawe them." Regardless of the wounded feelings of Mr. Turner, who was gloomily absorbed in exercising all the resources of his mental arithmetic, figuring out the probable profits his lost fifty dollars would have yielded if judiciously invested in "futures" or a quiet poker symposium, the inexorable judge proceeded rub it in by firing off this parting shot:

ealously guarded intrusions upon their legislative and judicial bodies, and the blessings of law are proportioned to the respect of the people to its ctuaries. It may be regarded as axiomatic that a decadence of respect for the courts is invariably followed and characterized by a carrival of law lessness and a general demoralization and aban-

The wretched ionrnalist could stand no more. His brain reeled, and he tumbled into a state of collapse from which he has not yet recovered. Messrs, Turner and Kennedy are firmly convinced that the country is going to the dogs, and that the world is all a fleeting

RED FLAGS IN PARIS. France is troubled by flags. The black flags of Tonquin were very distressing, and now the government is pestered by the red flags of Paris. Of the two, the black flags were less alarming and dangerous to the government. The red flags do not represent merely the anarchists; if they did, there would not be any reason for using the police or military force to disperse them; for the men that Rochefort and his brother communists control are not to-day as strong as they were five or ten years ago, and are far weaker than they were fourteen years ago, when they held the capital four months, and displayed more cruelty, greed and destructiveness than could be found elsawhere in the world on the same area of ground. The spirit of the commune still lives, but it would be harmless to-day in France were there no poor people. Times are very hard in Paris. No building of moment is going on, and the factories are either closed or running on short time. It was the unemployed, the riff-raff, if you like, of the city, that assembled in Pere la Chaise on Sunday with red banners and with revolutionary cries. There is, however, no real discontent among prosperous people, and the government feels the strength of the body that stands behind it. Nor is the country growing poorer. The country, as a whole, is accumulating every year a vast sum, and it contains to-day the largest number of peop. e in good circum stances of all the countries of Europe. But Paris feels the depression that is almost world wide, and her thousands and tens of thousands of day laborers and loafers are ready to seize upon any opportunity to demand a change.

Undoubtedly they will display their flags when the remains of Victor Hugo are borne to the Pantheon; but if the government does not unnecessarily antagonize them, there is no reason to believe that the movament will extend beyond an expression of discontent on the part of the unemployed poor of Paris. The anarchists hope for a revolution, but they taken; and, therefore, I fhink the adminis-tration has so far acted wisely in respect to this subject. But this does not mean that or towards a monarchy or an empire. The republic has gained strength all along, and no mob in Paris can overthrowit. As soon as illiteracy is reduced to a low per centage, the anarchists will find their occupation wholly gone, and the common schools of the republic are rapidly bringing about such a result. There is a deal of sense and conservatism among the masses of the French people, and they cannot be induced to invite a return of the frightful scenes of 1871. The poor of Paris, led by professional agitators, may shout themselves hoarse and may fill the streets with red flags, but they will accomplish nothing more, because the great maority of the people are wholly content to let affairs remain as they are. The country needs many more years of peace, and liberty, and popular education, and material prosperity; and then if a nation attempts to overrun ber territory and seize her capital, the world will see what republicanism is good for. The French republic, we may be sure, will survive the red flags and their riotous bearers.

Large Additions to the Subscription Lists for the Aseciation Euilding-A Hearty Response From the Noble Men and Women of Atlanta-Success Undoubtedly Assured.

The subscription list to the Y. M. C. A. building it is rapidly moving up to $30,000, which point it ought to reach by Sunday morning. Then with he breathing spell that day allows we will start or the $75,000 and not rest until we get there. The subscriptions yesterday came in steadily and spontaneously. Several suggestions were made for the future which will be considered. One of the most important of these comes from Mr. T. J. Buchapan, who writes that many people who would like to contribute from their small means do not like to join the fund of large subscribers. He proposes therefore that a "Four dollar fund" he started and believes that there are several thousand men who will give that amount. He says he has his 34 ready to begin the" Four dollar fund" and knows of others who will follow. His suggestion is accepted and all who wish to contribute to the 'Four dollar fund" will please send in their subscriptions and they will be acknowledged under

THE WORK OF THE LADIES BEARING FRUIT.

The fund of the "mothers, wives and sisters" of Atlanta keeps pace with the other list. Many of the dollar subscriptions are coming in, and the number of the good women who are expressing their sympathy in the good work, is increasing with the amount. The ladles have a meeting at Trinity church this afternoon im-mediately after the Bible meeting, when reports and subscriptions will be received. It is earnestly hoped that every lady who reads this will consider herself a committee of one, specially charged with swelling the list this even ing, and will carry besides her own subscription that of all her neighbors and friends. This fund of the Christian women of Atlanta must reach There are 5,000 good women who have not yet subscribed, and who intend to subscribe. Let one thousand of them be heard from to-day.

...$50,995 00 Notwithstanding a driving rain and the severities of one of the most inclement nights, a large number of our best citizens gathered at the beautiful residence of Mr. H. D. Adair to report progress in the work now uppermost in the mind of every citizen of Atlanta. A spleadid addition to the subscriptions was made. To-night the hospitable home of our noble hearted citizen Mr. 8. M. Inman will be thrown open to receive every one interested in the Y. M. C. A. building. Let an unusually large gathering take place. Let every one who has attended the meetings heretofore be present. Let everybody interested be present.

The invitation is to every citizen interested in this grand movement. Let us make glad the heart of this good man by accepting his invitation.

Mr. J. G. Oglesby called at The Constitution Mr. J. G. Oglesby called at The Constitution yesterday and subscribed $100, saying: "This is the first time I ever looked a man up to give money away. But I have been watching the work and I want my share in it. I will give $400 mos, and if it is necessary to do more I will not be lacking. It is a great work and must snoceed."

"A mechanic writes: "If the good people of this fown knew how anxiously the mechanics of Atlanta were watching the movement to build a Y. M. G. A. hall, and how grateful they feel for what is being done, the lists would be filled up in a hurry. It is the sons of the comparatively poor men who need this building most, and thousands of mechanics and their wives watch with deepest interest the progress of the work. If work had only been as brisk this winter as usual you might start a "mechanic's fund" and count on a hig list. But most of them have been out of work half the winter. Atlanta says her nechanics are her glayr. Then haven this movement to save the sons of the mechanics, that they may be fit for carry on the work their rathers are doing, and God will bless you for it."

Harwood's Enormous Insurance. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 28 .- Renewed interest n the death of Norman B. General Smith has been down on Indian river in-vestigating the cause of Harwood's sudden death, but it is understood that he has learned nothing to invalidate the verdict of the coroner's jury, which was that his death resulted from a concus-sion of the brain, caused by a fall from his horse.

From the Pittsburg Telegraph. With malice toward none and with charity for all, Frank Murphy has pursued his temperance work here, enduring patiently the sharpest criticism of those who were interested in balking him of his purposes, but there is a limit to the forbear ance of the saintliest of men, which Murphy does not profess to be, and he reached the limit of his forbearance when he came to deal with the dandy mashers. Who could have thought Murray capable of such sarcasm as he displayed last night in describing those sweet creatures? "How they 'haw' and 'yaw' when you ask them to sign the pledge. After twisting themselves through a series of attitudes they say: "My deah fellah, I don't need, aw, your ribbon, aw. These characters are the snakes of society. Look at one of them. When Murphy loses his patience with the dandy masher, other people are excusable for the jibes and jokes which limit of his forbearance when he came to people are excusable for the jibes and jokes which they cast at this flower of our civilization.

Rizpah and Her Dead.

BY ANNIE GREER. And Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah, took sackcloth and spread it for her upon the rock, from the beginning of the harvest until water dropped upon them out of Heaven, and suffered neither the birds of the air to rest upon them by day, no: the beasts of the field by night. O'er Judah's plains the sun was sinking low,

O'er Judah's plains the sun was sinking low,
The barley corn gleamed golden in the light
Of his last rays, which seemed to linger o'er
The bright green sod, that but a short while stoce
Had been so barren, waste and weird. All hearts
Were merry, for into the fields were thrust
The sickles now that had been laid aside
For three long years. But on Gibeah's hill Far away, the sun must another scene
Behold, ere beyond billowy deep
He sinks to rest. Ah! 'twas the mangled forms
Of seven brave soms—sons and grandsons of him Whose head and shoulders towered above all Other Isreelites. There were two Who, in the bloom of life, had thus been ta'en
Away, and over them a form was bent—
A woman's form, in sackcloth all arrayed.
Hollow were her cheeks, and wan, while chiseled

Hollow were her cheeks, and wan, while conseled
On the broad, white, pensive brow, were furrows,
Long and deep. In every lineament
Of that pale faded face was sorrow traced,
Sorrow that woman's heart alone can know,
Anguish that mother's hearts alone can feel,
Ever and anon over verdant fields
Her dim and languid eyes she casts; once more
She veils them in her heavy sackeloth folds.
The broad sycamore boughs above her sway
Wherein the birds some sweet requiem chant,
And yet at each low chirp, her slender frame,
So frail, shudders most feartully, and in That trying hour all comfort she rejects,
Like her who wept o'er Ram's dead, and thus
In bitter lamentations she broke forth.

A GAME AT LAST.

AND ATLANTA GOES DOWN BE-FORE THE NASHVILLE NINE.

A Strong Game, But the Atlantas Fail to Bring Out Their Strong Points and are Downed-Dundon Batted Heavily by the Home TeamThe Games in Other Otties.

Atlanta took the worst defeat in its history from the hands of Nashville yesterday. Nashville appears to have outplayed our team at every point, except in fielding. They batted Dundon heavily, one player taking him for two singles, a two-bagger and a three-bagger.

It is needless to say that yesterday's game has not lessened our confidence in Atlanta as the winning team. Every club must lose once in a while, and yesterday happened to be Atlanta's off day. We have steadily pounded clubs that in turn have beaten Nashville two out of three and three straights. We only regret that we had only one game with Nashville on this trip, and await with impatience the next three games with her team.

The Directors' Meeting Yesterday. The directors of the Southern league met yester-day at the Kimball house, each club being repre-

It was decided, in accordance with the recently adopted rule of the American association, to discontinue the restriction on the pitcher which prevented the deliverance of the ball from above the shoulder. Hereafter the pitcher is without restriction as to his delivery, provided he keeps the box. The league umpires were accordingly notified by President Grady yesterday.

Manager DeFrance, of the Columbus nine, sub mitted charges against the Memphis association and asked its discharge from the league and the substitution of some other city in its place. Mr. Smith, fof the Memphis directors, appeared for his city and denied the charges, submitting papers to sustain his denial and offering to bring further evidence. Mr. Proudfit, of Macon, moved the appointment of a committee of three to investigate the charges. Adopted, and Messrs. Proudfit of Macon, Walter Brown of Atlanta and Frank Foster of Augusta were appointed on the committee. The meeting then adjourned.

Nashville Defeats Atlanta. NASHVILLE, May 28.—[Special.]—The Atlantas were defeated to-day by the Nashvilles before a large crowd. The playing of both teams was a remarkable exhibition of nerve, as at many points of the game a slight break might have changed the result, but both teams worked more deliberately at critical stages than at any other The locals won with the bat, as both clubs fielded almost faultlessly. Dundon was rather severely pounded. The game abounded in many pretty and difficult plays, the most remarkable of which was the phenomenal catch of Bittman at second, of an almost certain base hit, and an assist of Marr from the extreme right field to third base, cutting off Dundon. Following is Avenging a Daughter's Insult. HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., May 28.—The report reaches here that a colored man of fifty made in-sulting proposals during her father's absence to the nineteen-year-old daughter of Dr. W. W. Verdin, a highly respected citizen of Lapidum, about five miles above this town. On his return home and being informed of the facts, the doctor commenced search for the man and found him at work in a store. He attempted to shoot him, but the hammer of his revolver caught in some manner and would not discharge. He then administered a sound thrashing to him with his caue and gave him warning to leave the place at once or he would be lynched. The darkey left.

NEW YORK STOOKS.

Stocks as Reported in the New York Stock

Exchange: NEW YORK, May 28.—The stock market to day, until the last hour, was practically a repetition of that of yesterday. The opening prices showed no material changes and quotations for the next four hours were limited to small fractions of 1 per cent without any material increase in the amount of business done and without any decided movement in any direction except a slight weakness developed in Lackawanna. In the last hour, however there was increased activity, accompanied by a oslight yielding in the quotations of the general list and a decided break in Lackawanna, and the market finally closed weak and generally the lowest prices reached. Lackawanna closed 2½ per cent and the other declines were only 1/2 to 3/4 per cent, except St. Paul, which went down 1/2 per cent. Jersey Central was up % per cent on well circulated reports that the road would be re-leased to the Baltimore and Ohio. Sales 137,000 shares. The stock exchange has adopted a new plan for the collection and distribution of quotations Eight of its own reporters, four at each end of the room, will collect quotations and give them to the operator who will send them simultaneously to the ticker company. The operators will be stationed in a booth. The stock exchange in this way seeks to control its own quotations and to keep them from bucket shops.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Produce. By telegraph to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, May 28-There was active trading in wheat throughout the entire session with prices fluctuating rather wildly. A selling movement early in the session was quickly stopped when it was found that strong buying had set in, and within the first half hour prices advanced 1/80 over the opening with shorts purchasing freely. After the first rush there was a reaction of %c, and then, when heavier receipts of wheat were indicated for to-morrow, the market became heavy and declined to about the lowest figures of yesterday. In the afternoon the feeling was somewhat strong er with some buying on the part of shorts, and the market closed a fraction higher than yesterday. Foreign advices were of an unfavorable tenor, quoting dull and weaker markets, and there appeared to be an utter lack of shipping inquiry.

The feeling in corn was unsettled and irregular, notwithstanding that the port receipts for to-day were larger. The market early ruled quite strong and prices were advanced 3/4c above opening figures. Shortly before noon it was rumored that the estimated receipts for to-morrow would show a large increase over to-day's arrivals, and prices became very weak, closing 1/8@1/4c under yesterday's. The afternoon market was somewhat firmer and a shade higher.

The speculative market for oats was strong, with good outside buying and the shorts covering, and there was an early advance of ½%, all of which was afterward lost. The prospect of large receipts for to morrow assisted a later decline.

Mess pork opened stronger, but fell back on the regular board. On the afternoon board a stronger feeling again prevailed, and the market closed somewhat higher than yesterday. Lard also closed higher than yesterday in the final transactions of the day.

ABOUT POLICE HEADQUARTERS. A Letter From Wilkins's Son-A Lunation

A Letter From Wilkins's Son-A Lunatic Arrested-A Box Car Opened.
Yesterday morning Chief Connolly received a letter bearing the Utics, New York, post mark. The letter, when opened, was found to be from the son of Wilkins, the man who is now serving a term in the chaingang for cheating and swindling. The composition indicated a fairly educated writer. The young man asked how he could communicate with his father, and said that he was anxious to know the particulars of the offense for which he was wearing the chains. The son said that he know his father had done wrong, but that he had always been a kind father. Chief Connolly will answer the letter to-day. The writer signed himself C. E. Andrews.

Yesterday morning a negro woman created quite an excitement on Walton street near Spring street, by singing and praying on the sidewalk. At first it was thought that she was sidewalk. At first I was thought has she was drunk and an officer was sent for. Patrolmen Sheridan and Whitney responded, but when they reached the woman they found that she was crazy. She fought like a wild man and was landed in the city prison after a great deal of trouble. Her name is Sallie Jones. She went crazy about religion.

Early yesterday some thieves entered G. S. Prior's stables at 268 West Peachtree street and stole about thirty-five grain sacks. The thieves are thought to be negro boys. The sacks are all marked, and the police are on learned sermon at Trinity church last night. It filled. The people seemed to flock to hear him through rain and storm. His subject was selected from the 35th chapter of Numbers.

Dr. Munhall to Give Bible Readings at the First Methodist Church, Dr. Munhall preached a most interesting and

He spoke of the six cities of refuge, and described in the most beautiful language his visits to that country. Said the Levites were commanded to keep all the roads leading to these six cities in good order so he that fleeth would not stumble and be overtaken by the avenger of blood. The laws in those days were not as ours, but if a man through accident killed his fellow man he fled to the nearest of these cities of refuge. The signboard, as in the days of the Levites, points in the right direction, so he that runs may read, and the gatee, unlike the gates of all the cities of refuge are open all night, never closed.

The meetings have been closed at Trinity church so that a united effort may be made at the First Methodist, church to make the district conference a success and a blessing to Atlauta and the district, and Br. EXECUTIVE OLEMENCY

EXECUTIVE OLEMENCY

Exercised in Behalf of Two Convicts-The Reasons Assigned in Each Case. Governor McDaniel has extended executive clemency to Andrew M. Nash, of Gwinnett county, by reducing his sentence of ten years for voluntary mensiaughter to three years, and to William James, of Forsyth county, by reducing his sentence for assault with intent to murder from two years to sixteen months. The following executive orders issued in each case give the reasons why a reduction of the penalties was thought proper: THE NASH CASE,

The Nash Cass.

To the Principal Keeper of the Penitentiary: Whereas, on the 14th of September 1882, at the fall term of Gwinnett superior court, Andrew M.
Nash was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for the term of ten years upon his conviction of the offense of voluntary manslaughter, whereas, it appears that said Nash was indicted for murder and voluntarily surrendered himself to the authorities for trial and was found guilty of yountary mansiaughter and, whereas, it appears that said Nash was not the aggressor in the difficulty resulting in the killing by Nash of W. C. Yarbrough, but that he (Yarbrough) was in the habit of drinking and was quarrelsome, and when drinking was dangerous, and whereas, it appears from an affidavit of file in this office, made by F. M. Cain, that said Yarbrough, after the difficulty and before his death, told him (Cain) that he did not want his father to bother Nash; that he (Yarbrough) was drinking at the time of the difficulty, and that he wanted to see Nash himself; that they could fettle it; that he was not mad with him; that liquor was the cause of the trouble; and that he was more to blame than Nash was; and that if he died he did not want him prosecuted, and

Whereas, the Hon. N. L. Hutchins, now judge of said court, advises that executive elemency be granted in this case and a large number of the best citizens of said county also urge that said Nash be pardoned.

After carefully examining said case it appears that it is proper to commute the sentence it said case. It is, therefore, ordered that his said sentence be, and is hereby, changed and commuted from ten to three years imprisonment in the penitentiary of said state.

INSPECTING THE BAILROADS. The Legislative Sub-Committee on a Tour of the Lines Over the State. At the last session of the legislature a resolution was passed authorizing a sub-committee of the joint committee of the senate and house to inspect the various railroad lines in the state, and to submit a report to the general assembly at its next session. The party started from Macon on Tuesday of last week, and has traveled about 1,800 miles. They arrived in Aslanta yesterday at one o'clock on a special train from Augusta which came just ahead of the fast mail. There were in the party, Senators Falligant, Maddox and Johnston, of the senate sub-committee, of which Captain Falligant is chairman, and Representatives Gustin, Gordon, Hawkes, Esson, Arnheim and Dart of the house, of which Hon. Geo. W. Gustin, of Bibb, is chairman. Messra Tate, of Pickens, McClendon, of Thomas, and Everett, of Polk, have been unable to be with the committee. At the last session of the legislature a reso-

The committee was accompanied by President Raculof the Central, and General Manager Haines, of the Savannah, Florida and Western railroad. They travel in Pullmen dining cars, and have had a com-fortable time of it. They started on their tour last Tuesday, going from Macon to Columbus over the Southwestern railroad. At Columbus the property of the railroads and the yards were inspected, after which a trip was made down the Mobile and Girard and Mobile and Eufaula railroads to Strard and Mobile and Eutsuia railroads to Eutsuia. From Eufsuia they went to Albany over the Southwestern. Leaving Albany Thursday morning they inspected the Savannah, Florida and Western to Thomasville and Waycross. A return trip from Thomasville to Albany was made over the Brunswick and Western. The East Tennesses, lines to Meson and thence to East Tennessee lines to Macon and thence to Brunswick were next inspected. From Brunswick a trip was made to Jacksonville and Sayannah over the Brunswick and Western and the Savannah, Florida and Western lines. Three days were spent in Savannah in closely inspecting the terminal facilities of the Central and the Savannah, Florida and Western systems. All the extensive shops, wharves, and yards of these great roads were visited. From Savannah the committee went to Augusts, arriving there at non-Wednesday. They were shown around Au-gusta, taking a good look at all the railroads and shops there. They made

THE RATE WAR TO END. MAJOR FINK ANNOUNCES PEACE

Letter From the Receiver of the East Tennesse ject Tax Constitution feels authorized in an-

Virginia and Georgia Bailroad to Captain Racul of the Cantral-What the Various Bailroad Men Know-A Sensation. Without official information on either sub-councing two railroad sensations.

It is believed that the railroad commissioners in their report soon to be made to the governor will recommend the passage of a law authorizing the commissioners to make minimum as well as maximum rates. This idea is to guarantee equal advantages to all points and to prevent cuts that work injury to places that do not receive the benefit of the railroad wars. Another idea is to save the railroads from themselves. The next sensation is that the East Tennessee is to take off its cut rates.

AS TO THE CUT RATES. Yesterday a Constitution reporter heard that the the East Tennessee had decided to take off the cut rates; that Mr. Ogden, who was in the city, was bitterly against Mr. Wrenn's war policy, and that the Savannah, Florida and Western had declined to join the East Tennessee in its cuts to Florida

The reporter sought Mr. Ogden and found him at the East Tennessee office in the Kimball house.

"I know nothing whatever of the matter." he said. "It is out of my line, and I do not keep up with it."

"Is it true that you have expressed yourself strongly against Mr. Wrenn's policy?" "It is not. I manage my own affairs, and have faith in Mr. Wrenn's ability to manage his. I have not found fault with his methods or his acts."

THE SAVANNAH, FLORIDA AND WESTERN Mr. Haines, of the Savannah, Florida and Western chanced to be at the Kimball. He was found by a Constitution man and was "Is it true that your road has declined to join the East Tennessee road in cuts to Florida points?"

"I don't know anything about it. I have not been around headquarters right lately. We have a rate with the road for the month of May that expires by limitation in a day or two. Whether it will be renewed or not is a matter about which I know nothing. The passenger department is out of my line."

A well posted railroad man was a myrosched. points?" A well posted railroad man was approached.

"All I know about it I got in confidence. You will hear it in good time, I guess. All I can say is that there is something in the report that the cut rates are to be taken off."

Major G. A. Whitehead was approached and "I know absolutely nothing about the mat-THE REPORT VERIFIED.

The reporter industriously followed the trail until he became satisfied that there was truth in the report.

Yesterday the legislative committee that is on board was Mr. Raoul, of the Central. The party passed up the state road and was joined by Colonel R. A. Anderson, of the Western and Atlantic. Atter leaving Atlanta, Mr. Raoul showed to Colonel Anderson a letter from Major Fink stating that he had written a letter to Mr. Wrenn to cesses his pessenger. letter to Mr. Wrenn to cease his passenger rate war. Colonel Anderson telegraphed the news back to the officers of the road and it got out. This information is direct and admits of no doubt. Mr. Wrenn is now in Columbus and as yet no rates have been taken off except to Charleston and points in Florida. Nothing is known to THE CONSTI-TUTION about the letter to Mr. Wrenn. He is not in Atlanta and could not be seen. The whole thing seems to be that the cutting is to cease very soon, at least to points beyond the East Tennessee's own lines. The road will doubtless claim

A DIFFERENTIAL RATE, which means a cheaper rate to cover the dis-advantages under which the road labors in the matter of terminal facilities. Heretotore the roads have declined to allow such a rate and leclared they would meet any rate set by the East Tennessee. The East Tennessee people take the position that they must have business, and to secure it they must offer inducements to passengers. Mr. Wrenn will proba-bly be in Atlanta in a day or two and will be able to explain for himself. In the meantime there is nothing definite except the letter to Mr. Raoul.

HIGHER RATES ALLOWED.

The Railroad Commission allows the Roads an Increase on Local Freights, Yesterday the railroad commission, after considering fully the application of the rail-roads for an increase on local rates, decided to give the following advances:

For a distance of fifty miles and under an increase of 25 per cent.
For one hundred miles and over fifty, an increase of 20 per cent. For one hundred and fifty miles and over one hundred, 15 per cent.

For two hundred miles and over one hundred and fifty, 10 per cent.

For three hundred miles and over two hundred, 5 per cent. In distances over three hundred miles no increase is allowed. The following railroads have heretofore received an increase of twenty-five per cent and are not included in the list of roads that receives the increase granted yesterday: The Louisville and Wadley, the Marietta and North Georgia, the Elberton Air-Line, the Hartwell, the Lawrence-ville the Reswell the Chicarville.

ville, the Roswell, the Gainesville, Jefferson and Southern, and the Talbotton railroad.

The rates may be better understood by a reterence to the following table, which shows the rate asked, the rate granted and the old rate on a barrel of flour weighing 200 pounds: pounds:

MILES, 11

It will be seen that the rate granted is not as great as that asked for by the roads, but is a very perceptible increase on short hauls. A CONSTITUTION reporter met Mr. I. G. Haas of Savannah, at the Kimball last night. Mr. Haas, it will be remembered, appeared before the commission on Tuesday, and in the name of the Savannah board of trade, protested against the increase. He was shown the fig-ures to which the rates had been increased, and was asked:

"How will that suit Savannah?" "The increase is on short hauls. Savannah was not so much opposed to a slight increase on short hauls. I take it that we will not com-It is taken for granted that the railroads are

Mr. Sidney Root delivered the diplomas to the graduating class of girls from the normal department, and Dr. Haygood delivered the diplomas to the graduates in the industrial department.

Air. Root gave a short account of the institution, which is only about four years old, but is a most pronounced success. There are 626 students, all told, and the institution is in a rapidly growing condition.

Rev. Atticus G. Haygood made an instructive and entertaining address of an hour's length. He gave the colored people much prof-itable advice. He said the fortunes of the two races were so interlocked that a man could not races were so interlocked that a man could not hurt one without hurting both, and could not help one without helping both. Dr. Haygood said that in the history of the world there was no chapter like that which records the history of the colored man since the war. The days of slavery prepared the colored man for freedom. He was taught the English language and to labor systematically, and thus the foundation was laid for the work of education. The colored people have accomplished much. foundation was laid for the work of education. The colored people have accomplished much, but it was because much has been done for them. The doctor warmly espoused the cause of education, and spoke in high terms of the Georgia schools. He urged his audience to adopt habits of industry, economy, temperance and family virtue as the guiding stars of life. The address was listened to with the closest attention, and evidently made a deep impression.

He was W. D. Jordan, a planter near Madison, Morgan county, Ga. He was dressed in a full suit of home made jeans. The right hand breeches pocket showed up a long gash through which he claimed seven hundred dollars had been abstracted. He was talking to Chief Connolly and was asserting a willingness to pay liberally for the recovery of his lost property.

Jordan came to Atlanta day before yester-day with some cotton to sell. That afternoon he disposed of three hundred dollars worth of cotton and after dark went out to look at the town. He had the money in his right-hand breeches pocket and with it was a large cluster diamond ring, which he says cost him four hundred dollars. While on his tour of inspection Jordan went into the shooting gallery on Decatur street, and tried his nerve at the bull's eye. There was quite a crowd in the gallery and Jordan was its center. After firing several shots, Jordan showed his hand into his pocket for his money, but the hand emerged from a hole the tailor had not made. Failing to find the money, Jordan looked down, and seeing the hole, yelled: "I have been robbed!" This of course created quite a sensation, but for some reason Jordan failed to inform the police and sought his boarding-

Judge Clarke's Decision-A Fine of Fifty Yesterday Judge Clarke in the city court rendered a decision in the case of the state against Sam Ware, one of the colored attendants at the Capital City club, who had been indicted for selling liquors on Sunday. It was argued for the prosecution by Howell Glenn, the solicitor of the court, and for the defense by Judge Tompkins and A. C. King. Dollars Imposed.

Judge Clarke decided that the club had no right to sell intoxicating liquors on Sunday, even to its members or their guests, and that such sale was clearly against the law. He imposed a fine of $50 and costs upon Sam Ware. The case will be appealed to the surveyer court. preme court.

THESE ARE ABSOLUTELY THE MOST DESIRable vacant lots ever offered to the public possessing so many railroad facilities. Here you have the Belt road leading East, with the W. & A. and E. T. & V. West, and the Georgia Pacific Southwest. For every imaginable manufacturing purpose, this property is superior to any around Atlanta. This is ultimately destined to be occupied for Coal Yards, locomotive, wood and fron shops. This the most eligible and desirable point for receiving coal or crude material from the west, and has every convenience for shipping from Atlanta. While it receives all these benefits, it is too remote to be city taxed for the next fifty years. This property offers such an extensive railroad front it cannot is it oattract capital—not alone in our city, but throughout the country at large.

From this location you hear the buz of thousands of spindles in the Exposition cotton mills, which lie adjacent.

Upon this body of land are some elegant residence sites, high and commanding, with as pure well water as can be found in the earth. Such places are exceedingly valuable, being so very convenient to business. The surrounding property cannot be bought at any price at present, and is country, which proves that it is the most suitable place for a permanent investment. No man who has purchased in this direction has falled to realize a profit or appreciation in value. Yet the demand has just now began to grow. A few years ago this was the most quiet part of Atlanta. To-day you are impressed with the hum of machiaery and whirl of wheels in this section.

Here is your lot for your factory, with home adjoining, and no extra charge for transferring cars. Every train that passes the Belt road is bound to call a halt, thus enabling you to use them as readily as horse cars. This land belongs to a non-resident, and will be sold on its merition wheels in this section.

We regard this as the most favorable opportunity for a first-class investment that has been oftered at public outery for years. The lots not only fron THESE ARE ABSOLUTELY THE MOST DESIR-physical benefit from the trip.

THE ESPONSIBILITY OF OFFICE-HOLDING.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Hay has written a letter to Hon. Charles Hunsicker, of Morristown, Pa., in which he says:

"I think that there is some misapprenension as to the disposition and purposes of the postoffice department. Very great responsibility has been put upon the agents of the people here, and it seems to me that it is essential to their ultimate approval and to the lasting welfare of the party of which we are members, that all administrative action should be taken with the utmost care, after due consideration, and with the facts which might properly influence it. The agents of the administration, in their various positions, are new to their work, as are the members of the party throughout the country unused to the consideration or exercising of any function in public affairs. The democrats for many years have had no part whatever in the procurement or enjoyment of federal offices, even of the most minor character. There ought to be mutual consideration between the great mass of the people and their selected agents in Washington, and mutual assistance should be readily rendered. There should be one spirit animating all, to be considerate, to have reasonable confidence and to maintain with fidelity all the pledges made before the election as to what the democratic methods of the government would be. The "spoils system" with all its aggregated and vast power, was what we fought and prevailed against. Generally public policy and sound party considerations require that reasons should exist and be assigned for removals from public offices. Throughout the United States, under past administrations, in a vast majority of cases, federal appointments have been made only as rewards for extreme party services, and offices have been grossly misused for the purpose of retaining one political party in power, and nutterly excluding the other from any share in conducting the public affairs of the United States. It is due to the people of a

It is understood that the president will soon appoint Colonel Edward Yarborough to be collecter of internal revenue for the sixth district of North Carolina. He is strongly indorsed by both senators and the delegation, besides having a strong backing from the business men of the state. It is probable the appointment will be made on Monday, Marshal Hill, at present marshal of the eastern district of North Carolina, will, it is said, shortly be removed and be succeeded by Ceptain V. V. Richardson, who is a strong applicant for the place. A number of charges are also contemplated in the postmaster stof the state, one of the first being the appointment of Mr. Matthew Manly as postmaster at New Berne vice J. T. Marrice. It is understood also that Colonel W. S. Beird will soon be appointed marshal for the northern district of Florida. The Post to-morrow will contain the fol-

THE RIEL REVICERS SET FREE.

General R. C. Drum sentithe following telegram to General Schofield today:

Replying to your telegram of this date reporting arrest in American territory of Gabriel Dumont and Michael Dumas, Canadian idsurgents, who belonged to Riel's insurrectionary force, the secretary of war instructs me to say that military forces have no authority to arrest or detain them. They must, therefore, be released from military arrest.

Since Secretary Manning assumed charge of the treasury department, sixty clerkships, ranging in salary from $900 to $2,100, have become vacant. With one exception the offices are all within the civil service classification. The secretary has decided not to fall cation. The secretary has decided not to full any of the vacancies in question on the ground that the interests of the service do not require it. This decision will result in an annual saving of about $66,000.

The estimated reduction of the public debt for May will be five million. Deputy Collector McPherson.

CHATTANOGGA, Tenn., May 29.—[Special.]—J. L. McPherson, of Rhea county, was to day appointed deputy revanue collector for the lower district of Tennesses.
